Warnings

The Ante-mortem Examination Declaration shall be completed for all farmed mammals intended for slaughter or killing for the provision of raw material for petfood. The Declaration must be signed and dated clearly.

Information sought on the Ante-mortem Examination Declaration is required to administer the Animal Products Act 1999. It is an offence under this Act to falsify or alter any statement with the intent to deceive and for the purpose of obtaining material benefit or avoiding material detriment. This Act provides penalties for offences involving deception of a fine up to $500,000 for companies or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 5 years and a fine of up to $100,000 for individuals.

Privacy Statement

Information sought on the Ante-mortem Examination Declaration is required to administer the Animal Products Act 1999. The Privacy Act 1993 provides rights of access to, and correction of, personal information held in a readily retrievable form. The information is held by the Petfood primary processor for a minimum of 4 years.

Notes for Ante-mortem Examination Declaration:

- The Supplier's details and property information must be accurately completed to facilitate full trace back of all consignments. Supplier means the owner or person in charge of the animals other than the person solely engaged in facilitating the transfer of animals (such as a transporter or purchasing agent). A saleyard operator may be a supplier.
- All animals must be individually identified to enable identification of the animal(s) to the Supplier Statement.
- All animals must be alive and generally fit and healthy at the time of slaughter or killing for petfood. The Ante-mortem Petfood Examiner must note any injury, abnormality or adverse defect above.
- The operator must record the date and time of arrival of live or killed farmed mammals and the registration or fleet numbers of any vehicle used to transport live or killed farmed mammals to any petfood operation.
